

Entrepreneurship Cell Project Food Fellow

Project Food fellow may be rightly called the brain child of our budding entrepreneurs cum students of E-Cell of Shyam Lal College. Under the able guidance of E-Cell Convenor, Dr. Bharat Garg and other faculty members, the students of E-Cell realized the need for reducing wastage of food and in turn, making it available to the ones in need. Thus, the basic objective of the project was to bridge the gap between people with food surplus and the ones who aren't able to afford two square meals in a day. The project was very much appreciated by one and all as it catered to an essential need of the society. The project saw the day of light as it was applauded at Yuva-Spandana and was also selected as inter-disciplinary project of the College. A team of 30 students were a part of the project. The students took pride in being able to contribute a bit towards a social cause.
