

Report on Workshop on Entrepreneurship Skills

IIC, Shyam Lal College, University of Delhi has organized a workshop on Entrepreneurship skills, Attitude and Behavior Development on March 27, 2023 from 11:00 A.M. onwards in Seminar Hall of the SLC Campus. Around 85 students have participated in this insightful event.

The Objective of the workshop was to provide platform for developing innovation skills and zeal among the students to have their own Start-ups and provide first-hand experience about starting a successful startup.

The Speaker of the Workshop was Prof. Sevi Murugavel, Director of University of Science Instrumentation Centre, University of Delhi. He is the Holder of Prestigious Alexander von-Humboldt Award for his contribution in mesoporous Bioactive Glasses with Enhanced mineralization. He has published extensively across a board range of areas in materials science with ninety international journals till date.

The session proceeded with a brief introduction of entrepreneurship that was explained in such a manner that a person with no knowledge of it can understand it easily. Then, he explained how being positive and Persistent is importance for being a successful researcher and an entrepreneur in life. He also told us various entrepreneurial qualities that are being persistent, creative, inquisitive, flexible, independent and Risk-Taker. Then, he went on telling us about 'Death-valley' stage that is the pre-revenue stage of startups, how crucial this stage is in life of a startup as most of them get closed here. And the most important lesson that he taught was to never give up no matter what as things might not go as we have planned but being a researcher and entrepreneur is all about overcoming these difficulties.

At the end of this workshop, Dr. Monika Goyal expressed her grateful thanks to the Speaker, whose support has made this workshop possible. And Special thanks to the team members for their enormous Cooperation.
