Working Paper Guidelines

Shyam Lal College (SLC), University of Delhi has introduced a Working Paper Series in which the faculty members of the College and their coauthors would be given a chance to publish their original research papers on the College Website. The series includes both substantive and methodologically driven work based on the original ideas/works. All papers submitted to the series will be subject to external peer review to ensure adequate quality standards are maintained, and the series continues to serve as a valuable resource hub for users and others. SLC holds copyright for all working papers, but will not authorise the use of the material by other organisations without seeking permission from the author(s)/ institution.

The aim of the SLC Working Paper series is to share with a wide audience of academics, researchers, practitioners and policy-makers new and exciting work on a wide range of topics from Sciences to Business and Management to Social Sciences and Humanities. The main requirement is that the work relates in some way to the research themes in the above stated fields. It provides a means of publishing opportunity for work in progress and/or early findings from studies that will eventually be submitted as journal articles. All the faculty members of different Departments of the College are encouraged to submit their papers to the Working Paper Series. All the Working Papers would be published on the website under the designated link after due process of review.

To maintain transparency and promote high research quality, the following guidelines have been formed in which the submitted papers would go through a rigorous review process.
