On 6th Feb 2025, the Centre for Skill Development at Shyam Lal College, University of Delhi, in collaboration with Upstox, successfully organized a seminar on “Basics of stock trading and breakout strategy”. This event witnessed active participation from students across various departments, reflecting their keen interest in financial awareness and strategic trading.

The seminar covered essential aspects of stock trading, including reading charts, analyzing trends, identifying support and resistance levels, and implementing effective trading strategies. Experts provided deep insights into market behavior, helping students understand how to make informed trading decisions.

The session was interactive, with real-world examples that made complex concepts easier to grasp. Participants engaged in discussions, asking questions and sharing their perspectives on stock trading. The seminar not only enhanced their understanding of market dynamics but also encouraged critical thinking and strategic planning.

Both students and teachers found the event highly insightful, with many expressing interest in similar sessions in the future. The seminar proved to be a valuable learning equipping students with practical knowledge to navigate the financial markets effectively.
