“Students live interaction on “Omicron risk and prevention”
In collaboration with
Department of Environment, Government of NCT, Delhi

Eco-club organised a student’s live interaction on “Omicron risk and prevention”. This discussion aims to share the experience and provide the perfect message of prevention to the students. The session was conducted on the 23rd Jan 2022 through the google platform. There were almost 30 participants in the meeting. The session was great and our team members loved to interact with the students. The session was organized under the guidance of Mr. Pankaj Chaudhary Convenor and Dr. Sunaina Zutshi faculty member. We all had a great time in this live interaction and our team was successful in providing the message of risk and prevention to our audience. The aim of the discussion was to find out all possible ways to aware students regarding Omicron and cut down the risk. As colleges are reopening, it’s important that precautions are taken both inside and outside the classroom to prevent the spread which includes personal protective measures such as masks, physical distancing in public and workplaces, closed and confined settings, ensuring hand hygiene and respiratory etiquette. Our members also try to discuss the precautions taken against the fake information and dangerous myths which are circulating and are feeding fear and stigma.
