The Yamuna festival 4.0, an annual event at SLC, University of Delhi, was organized by the Fine Arts Society and NSS Unit of the college.

The festival was organized on the College Campus and Yamuna Ghat. Under the banner of the Fine Arts Society, the festival featured the following events at the vibrant campus of the college.

1. Intra-college singing competition where students from different streams in the college showcased their singing talent and mesmerized the audience.
2. Inter-college group dance which witnessed participation from some of the best colleges of Delhi University along with many other universities. The choreographed performances were a sight to behold.
3. Performances by Swaraagam –the music society, Insignia-the music band, Aarodhya –the Indian dance society and Aarodhya –the western dance society that added fun and frolic to the entire event.
4. Hunar Manch Talent Hunt organized by Jharokha-the Dramatics Society of the college. This event saw participation from various budding artists who displayed their acting and theatre skills throwing light on diverse social issues.

The festival aimed to blend tradition with environmental stewardship, fostering a deeper connection with our surroundings.

The following events were held under the banner of NSS Unit, SLC.

On a vibrant afternoon, students of the NSS unit gathered at Yamuna Ghat No.21 to engage in various activities aimed at nurturing the environment and celebrating cultural traditions. The activities included:

1. Cleanliness Drive: With gloves on and spirits high, students cleared litter and debris from the riverbank, contributing to the restoration of Yamuna's pristine beauty.
2. Rangoli Making: A beautiful rangoli using leaves and flowers was created as a dedication to Yamuna Ghat, showcasing the artistic talents of the students and their reverence for nature.
3. Lamp Lighting and Yamuna Aarti: Students, alongside the priest, organized the lamp lighting and Yamuna Aarti on the ghat, worshipping Goddess Yamuna with full enthusiasm and spirituality.

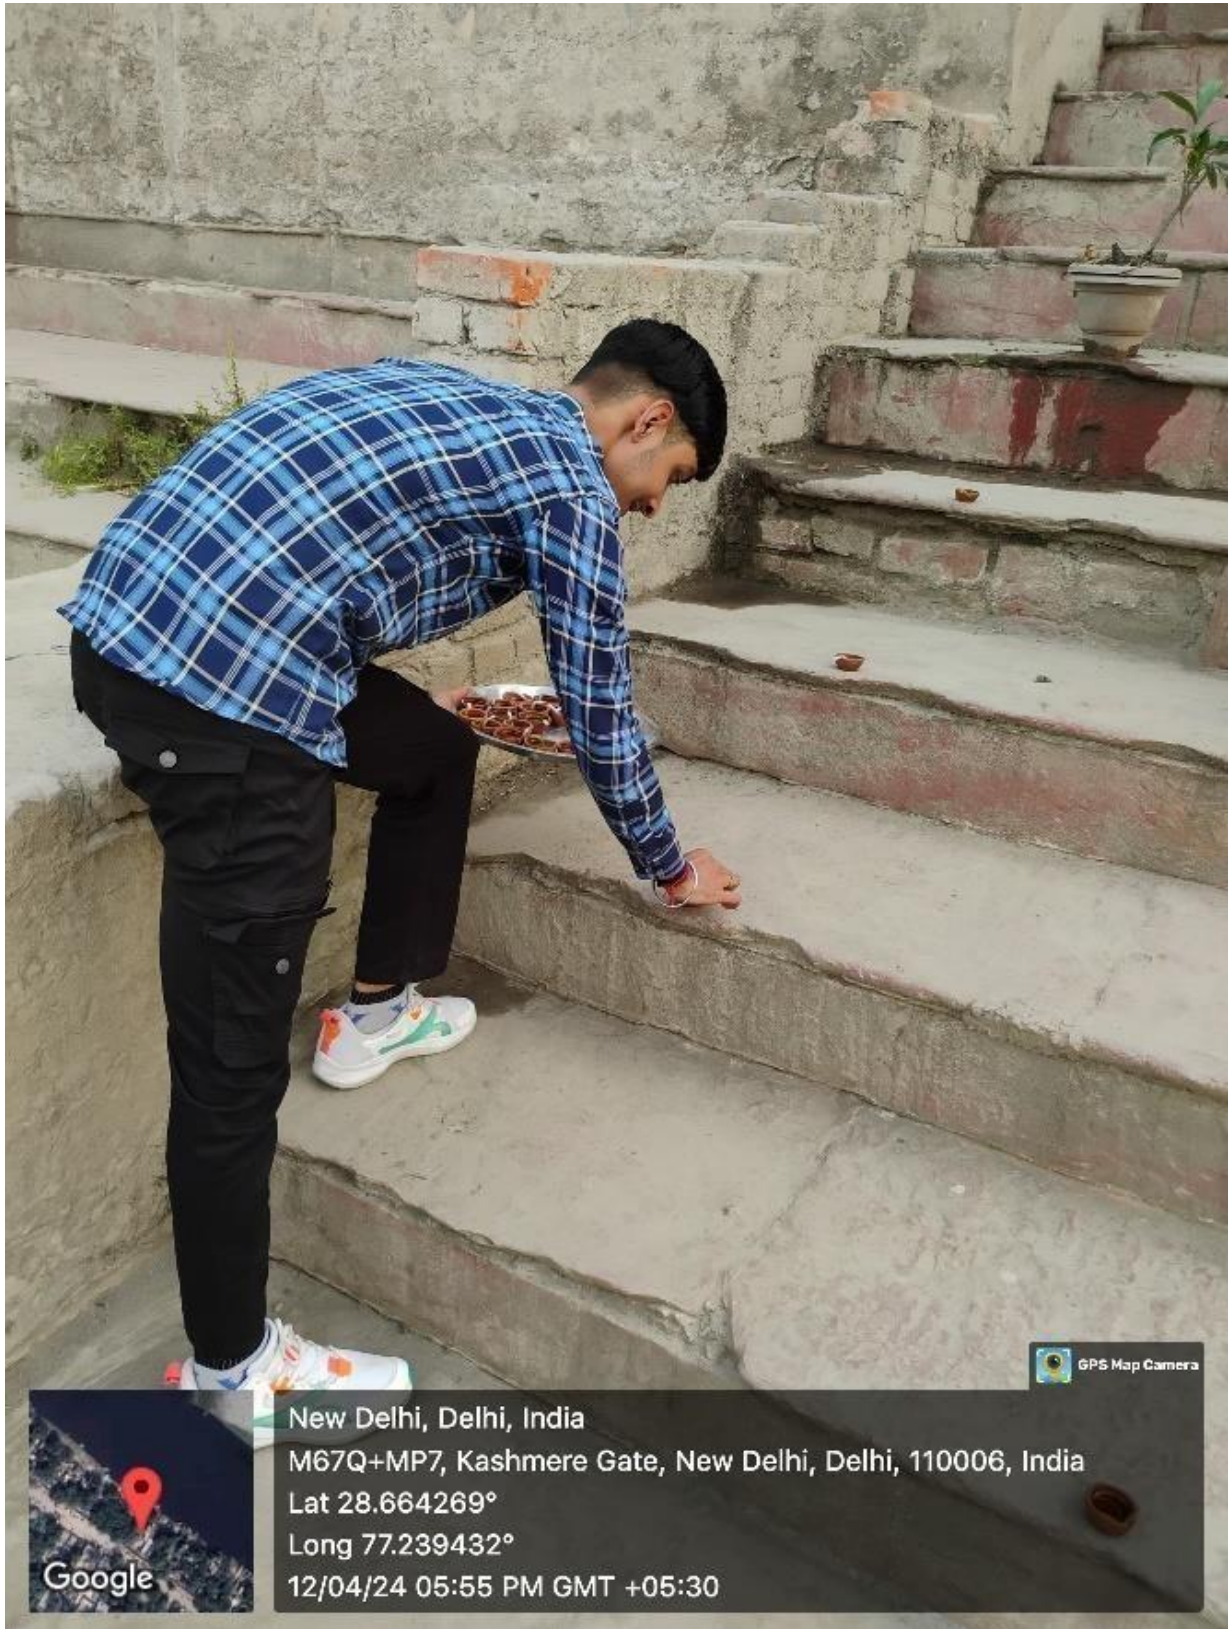

The festival was not merely a series of activities; it was about forging bonds with nature, culture, and each other. Together, the participants pledged to continue their efforts in preserving the sanctity of Yamuna and nurturing the environment with love and care.

The smooth conduction of all the drives marked a purposeful day, leaving an indelible mark on both the riverbank and our souls. As the students of the unit departed for their homes safely, they carried with them the spirit of environmental stewardship and cultural reverence instilled during the Yamuna Festival 4.0.

This report encapsulates the success of the event in merging tradition with environmental consciousness, showcasing the commitment of the SLC, University of Delhi, towards community engagement and sustainable practices.
